

David Bradley - Chief Executive Officer
South West London and St George's Mental Health Foundation Trust

Dear David,

We are delighted to attach our most recent report that has looked at the mental wellbeing of people who are pregnant or have had a baby in the last 2 years (perinatal period). We have also included their partners in our research.

Over 300 people completed the survey that now gives us a great evidence-base to look at how we can help to improve support for the mental health of people who fall within the perinatal period and their partners.

We would encourage you to circulate this report to all staff who have an interest in this field.

We have analysed the feedback we received and used the key findings to develop six recommendations that we are looking to take forward.

We would be very grateful if you could work with relevant staff to identify actions that your organisation can take to address any of the findings from our report. In particular, it would be good if you could look at the recommendations to see if you are able to support actions to address them (possibly in collaboration with others).

The legislation that sets out the remit of Healthwatch also places a requirement on service providers and commissioners to respond to a Healthwatch report in 20 working days (by 22 August 2019). This need only be an initial response with more detailed responses being developed at a later date.

The following organisations have also received a letter asking for a response to the report:

- Epsom and St Helier University Hospitals NHS Trust
- Sutton Health and Care Alliance
- Sutton Council
- Sutton Clinical Commissioning Group
- Sutton GP Services (GP Federation)
- Community Action Sutton (as a representative of the voluntary and community sector in Sutton)

We would be very willing to come and present the findings at any groups or committees that you feel might benefit from hearing about this work and may be able to help us to identify ways that we can support this group of people.

An action plan is being created that amalgamates all the actions across the organisations involved. This is being monitored through the multi-organisational Sutton Perinatal and Infant Mental Health Early Help Network that has supported this project since its inception.

We would like to take this opportunity to say that we are very grateful of the staff from your organisation that supported this project. We would like to offer your organisation any practical support that will enable actions in response to these recommendations to be taken.

We look forward to hearing from you and working with your organisation in the future.
